Forward Pass Is Proving More Successful This Year But Old Formations Renowned Are Still Popular With Coaches—Few Entirely New Plays Are Being Shown.

Running with the ball from the kick formation is being worked more strongly this fall than in all the other years put together. With this formation, whether a punt, outside kick close to the line, forward pass or rush is to come is what is bothering the team on the defense. The latter must weaken its line defense accordingly, sending an additional man back in case there is a kick.

In sending a man down ahead to receive the forward pass ends are having the call over tackles to a much greater extent than last year. Last season tackles were making the play as much as, if not more than, the ends. As a rule they were taller men, and with a tackle on the end of the line and an end back the other team was less prepared to stop the play. Still it was noticed in the big games some of these tackles who had been great at taking the forward pass did not try it at all—Flash, of Harvard, against Yale for instance.

The percentage of successful forward passes is more this year than before and the ends are doing most of the receiving. Tackles have been pretty effectually smothered when they tried it, and unless the big games show that they have been doing it under cover the season will be one of ends taking the passes.

Pennsylvania this year has made rather clever use of an outside kick variation. The quarterback took the ball as if for a quarterback run and headed out to, say, the right end. His interferers went along with him, to carry out the impression, and the opposing defense was drawn over in that direction. Before he went far the quarterback stopped, shouted "left," and gave a quick low kick over the line in that direction. One end had strayed out to the left to lay for the kick, and before the opponents knew what was up the end had the ball. It was a pretty nifty play.

ANOTHER FITZ IN RING.

Nephew of Famous Heavyweight Shows Skill With Gloves.

San Francisco, Nov. 20.—A nephew of Bob Fitzsimmons is cutting a wide swath in New Zealand, and, according to all accounts is likely to follow in the footsteps of his famous uncle.

In a letter received today Fitzsimmons, Jr., is described as a "likely looking kid, 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighing 154 pounds."

Says the informant: "He has remarkably broad shoulders and long reach. He is a blacksmith, and only 17 years old. In his last fight at Timaru he knocked a fighter named McCabe cold and used the regulation Fitzsimmons shift when doing it. He is not likely to be seen in the ring for quite a while unless he breaks away from parental restraint. His people have refused to let him enter into another match until he reaches his twentieth year."

JACK JOHNSON HAS MUCH RESPECT FOR BOSTON BOY

Thinks Langford Would Give Him a Harder Fight Than Jeffries and Demands Heavy Side Bet—There is Little Chance for a Meeting Between Colored Champions.

The fact that Jack Johnson demanded that Langford put up a $10,000 side bet for a bout shows the respect the champion has for the stump Boston negro. Johnson expects Langford to give him a harder fight than Jeffries could give him, and the champion evidently wanted to scare Langford away by imposing a heavy side bet. Sullivan worked the same game in the case of Peter Jackson. John L. demanded a $20,000 side bet from Jackson, which the giant negro was unable to furnish. If Johnson and Langford ever meet in the ring for the title, the spectators will see one of the most spectacular battles in the history of the ring.

Referring to the possibility of meeting Langford in England and of the suggestion that he might be required to apologize to the officials of the National Sporting club, Johnson says: "I have done nothing for which an apology is due, and under similar cir-

SCORES OF YALE-HARVARD
GAMES IN PAST SEASONS

To-day's football game in the Stadium will be the twenty-ninth since 1876, in which year Rugby football was introduced in these two universities. Of the twenty-eight games played Yale has won 21 and Harvard four. There have been three tie games. In 1877, 1885, 1888, 1895 and 1896 the teams did not meet.

Following is the record of the results of the games that have been played between Harvard and Yale:

1876—Yale 1 goal, Harvard 0 (2 touchdowns).
1878—Yale 1 goal, Harvard 0.
1879—Yale 2 safeties, Harvard 2 safeties (tie).

CORNISH BOUT TONIGHT.

Arrangements are complete for the Cornish wrestling match which is to take place at the Calumet theatre this evening between Tim Harrington of Rutte and Sidney Chapman of Trumountain. The men have finished their training and are resting to be fresh at the time of donning the jackets in the ring tonight. The contest will be for a side bet of $250 and a division of the gate receipts. The men are evenly matched as to weight, and although Harrington will enter the ring a slight favorite in the betting the indications point to a brilliant contest. Both men are mixers, and each has plenty of science. The seat sale has been large and a record crowd is expected at the theatre.

JOHNNY EVERS TO COACH.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Johnny Evers, the Cubs' second baseman, has been offered the position of baseball coach at Williams college, and as a result is not likely to report to Manager Chance until about April 15, at Louisville. Evers has written to President Murphy asking for permission to cut out the early part of the Cub training trip, that he may accept the college offer. He has been referred to Manager Chance, who is not likely to refuse the request. Evers says he will be in as good if not better condition by April 15 because of his work with the college lads than he would be after the southern journey. The star second baseman has made several trips through the south and they seldom agree with his health.
